Times Program for the New Year

It may appear to readers that The Times this week is hardly up to its usual standard, insofar as its local news is concerned. If this is true, then it is for the reason that the force has been unusually busy with other work, as well as from the further fact that the management has been more or less occupied in perfecting plans for the New Year, as well as consuming some of the enjoyment that is generally supposed to go with the Christmas holiday season.

During the coming year The Times is going to put forth every possible effort to fulfill its promise to its present readers, as well as to all who may become subscribers to this paper during the next twelve months, to give them an improved home paper, one that will be of added interest to every member of the family, wherein all will find considerable added features, some of which will certainly be of interest to every reader.

The paper will be from two to four pages larger each week, and all matter will be carefully selected, so that there is every reason to believe that The Times will be better and more interesting during 1922 than it has ever before been. The ambition of The Times management is to make this paper a real necessity in every home, whose weekly visits will always be anxiously awaited by every member of every family. If we can do this—and we believe it possible—then indeed will the New Year be crowded with pleasures to ourselves, as well as to our readers.

Burks and Elvins Are Selected

The Democratic and Republican conventions of the Twenty-sixth Senatorial District met in Ste. Genevieve Wednesday for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Constitutional Convention. The deliberations resulted in the election of Hon. Jerry B. Burks, of this city, as the Democratic member, while Hon. Polite Elvins, of Bonne Terre, was the choice of the Republican convention.

Both successful candidates were called on for speeches, and each responded in appropriate manner, extending their thanks for the honor conferred on them, and touching on some amendments to the State Constitution which they thought would be of great advantage to the people in general. This district is composed of the counties of Jefferson, St. Francois, Ste. Genevieve, Madison and Perry.

A "Buster" Anderson Benefit

Between reels at the Monarch theatre Tuesday night, "Buster" Anderson was taken to the stage by J. H. Tetley, who presented his case briefly and called for free-will offerings to assist in paying "Buster's" expenses while in the hospital at Kirksville for ten weeks recently undergoing treatment that practically remodeled and remade his once crooked and deformed body into the form it was intended to be by its Maker. The request for funds met with a very liberal response, as most everyone present seemed to be pleased to contribute to such a worthy cause.

This was followed last night by a "Buster" Anderson Benefit, also held at the Monarch, when a great crowd assembled, being drawn largely to assist in such a benevolent work, as practically everyone in this community know bright-eyed and expressive-face "Buster," and how he has been wrought on and practically made over. It was for the purpose of giving him a real Christmas treat that everyone seemed anxious to participate. This good work should, and doubtless will be extended to the lead belt, where it will perhaps meet with a like degree of favor. It will require upwards of $300 to pay for the truly marvelous work that has been performed on "Buster," who may now be permitted to accomplish something for himself in this life.

Free Delivery of Mail Postponed

Postmaster Smith informs The Times that it may be necessary to postpone the institution of free mail delivery in Farmington, owing to the fact that the Civil Service Commission has not yet passed on the examination of carriers.

The postmaster also informs us that he has been instructed to withhold the putting into effect of free delivery until recommendations have been received from the Civil Service Commission as to the selection of carriers. He has also received another order that will be welcome news to a number of householders in the city, to the effect that the instruction stating that mail would not be delivered more than 50 feet from the street, had been withdrawn.

All requirements on the part of the city will have been complied with before the first of the year, so that, in all probability, free delivery of mail will be started soon after Jan. 1st, if any postponement is necessary.

Will Close Monday for the New Year

The following Farmington business houses will be closed all day next Monday, Jan. 2nd, in observance of the New Year:

Fischer Mercantile Company.
Karsch Shoe Company.
Klein-Grocer Company.
Economy Cash Shoe Store.
Farmington Mercantile Company.
C. F. Rickus.
Morris Brothers.
Henderson Store Company.

KILLED IN FESTUS MONDAY

While on a trip to Festus Monday, Ed. Brim, of Elvins, an old citizen of this county, was shot just below the heart by his companion and roommate, from which death resulted in a short time. The shooting occurred in a soft drinks establishment in Festus, while Barnard, Brim's companion, was unloading a revolver he carried, preparatory to going to the depot to catch a train. The shooting is said to have been accidental, though Barnard was arrested and confined in the jail at Hillsboro, charged with manslaughter, the result of criminal carelessness.

An inquest was held in Flat River Tuesday, which findings indicated that the shooting was accidental. John, or "Slim" Sutton, also of Elvins, was with the two principals when the shooting occurred. He testified the shooting was accidental. Deceased is said to have been a most inoffensive man, never having trouble with anyone. He was married, but had not lived with his wife for some time. The remains were laid to rest in Parkview cemetery Tuesday afternoon.

Change Ordered in Juvenile Court

A cause came up for hearing during the recent term of circuit court, wherein W. A. Brookshire was attorney for one of the parties concerned in the case that had been tried in the Juvenile Court of this county. Mr. Brookshire noticed an apparent error had been made by Judge Huck in the appointment of a Juvenile Judge in a county of less than 50,000 population, the attorney contending that the circuit judge had exceeded his authority in making such an appointment as juvenile judge.

To uphold his contention, Mr. Brookshire called attention to section 1135 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri for 1919, which says that a Juvenile Judge must be: First, a regular circuit judge. Second, the regular circuit judge must call in another circuit judge from another judicial circuit of Missouri. Third, that a referee could be appointed as in civil cases.

Mr. Brookshire's contention was, therefore, that the blanket appointment, made by Judge Huck did not comply with the above quoted statute; that the appointing of juvenile judge, which was made in June, 1917, and that all proceedings that had since been had in such juvenile court were therefore void. The Attorney-General of the State also upholds Mr. Brookshire's contention in this matter, insofar as it relates to St. Francois county.

Therefore the juvenile division of the circuit court of St. Francois county has been placed under new regulations, so as to hereafter conform to the statutory requirements. Which means that in future whoever may sit in the hearing of juvenile cases will act only as referee, to report his findings to the circuit judge.

Charged With False Pretenses

Roy Beard, who has been running a branch house of the Beard System of stores at Flat River, was arrested Tuesday and placed in jail here on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

We understand the store there, of which he has been in charge, is now closed and will probably remain so. Past experience has been that the "chain store" project, which is organized by the selling of stock to local people, is rotten at the core, so that when a more thorough investigation is made into its innards, it is invariably found that only the semblance of a thin outer crust remains, and that the stock is practically worthless.

Ran Into Real Winter Scenery

Sheriff John G. Hunt, who, in company with two guards, took four prisoners to the penitentiary the first of the week, returned home Tuesday evening. The four recruits to the penitentiary was the contribution to that institution by the recent term of circuit court in St. Francois county. They were all convicted of burglary and larceny.

Sheriff Hunt was greatly surprised at the marked change in the weather from here to the Capital city, which, though not many miles north of here, was exhibiting real winter weather, with ice, sleet and snow in abundance. He was forcibly impressed with the idea that the line between the north and southland must be drawn somewhere between here and Jefferson City, as winter sports of all kinds, such as skating and sleighing, were in full headway there.

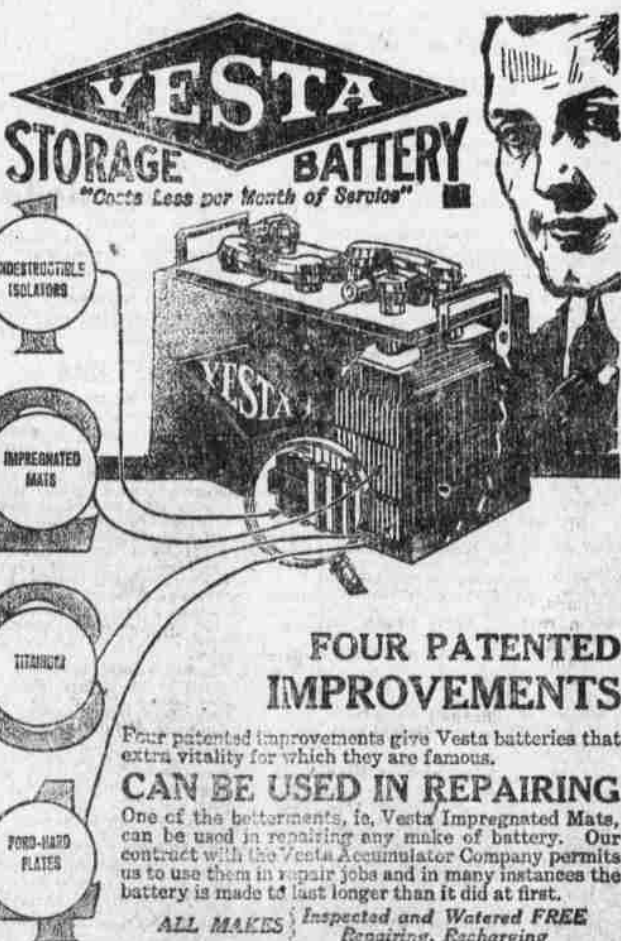

On reaching home he found the same moderate, balmy weather still being doled out as before he left. He says the limbs of trees were bent to the sidewalks by ice accumulation. He is more pleased than ever with the balmy climate of his homeland.

Wins Gold Medal

In the various typewriting contests held recently by the Ozark Business College, Hazel F. Miller won the Remington Gold Medal for accuracy in rapid typewriting. She is the third one of this family to win gold medals for accurate and rapid typewriting, and her brother is acknowledged as the State Champion of Missouri. All three of these accurate writers have been trained by the Ozark Business College of Farmington.

This college is becoming so well known for high-grade training that not only the Remington Typewriter Co., but the Underwood Typewriter Co., and the Royal Typewriter Co., have authorized this college to hold official contests regularly. In addition to Miss Miller, the following also won awards:

Edgar Rabey, Bronze Medal from Underwood Co., and Card Case from Remington; Laverta Collins, of Sabula, Certificate of Proficiency from Underwood, Royal, and Remington; Lillian Eaves, of Farmington, both Underwood and Remington Certificates; Daisy Boyd, of Doe Run, Underwood Certificate; Zilla Cunningham, Farmington, Underwood Certificate; John Baumann, St. Marys, Remington Certificate; Lillian Mayberry, Doe Run, Underwood Certificate; Opal Richardson, Bonne Terre, Underwood Certificate; Bessie Boyd, Doe Run, Underwood Certificate.
